Laying of Corner Stone of New High School Marks Forward Step

Coleman Citizens Proud of Increased Facilities Provided for Higher Education—Vice-President G. Kellock Performs Ceremony.

Favored by bright sunshine, the ceremony of the corner-stone laying on Wednesday afternoon was attended by almost a thousand people.

Mr. Arthur Reid, chairman of the school trustees, presided, and the program was opened by the school children singing "O Canada," with the citizens band playing the accompaniment.

Mayor G. Pattinson was the first speaker, and complimented the board on their action in deciding to build a new high school, and hoped that from its halls would go forth many who would win a high place for themselves in the world.

Rev. A. S. Partington followed with a short address, expressing the hope that those attending the high school would appreciate the improved facilities accorded them.

The presentation of a handsomely engraved silver trowel was made by Chairman Reid to Mr. George Kellock, who in adressing the assembly stated that the cost of the new school would be well worth while if it enabled those attending to become better equipped for their own advancement when they went forth into the world to make their own way. There had often been suggestions made to erect a central high school for the Pass towns, but he felt that it was more advantageous if Coleman pupils were enabled to attend a school in their own home town rather than having to travel a few miles each day. He heartily supported the board in their decision.

Mrs. Kellock was presented with a shower bouquet of roses, this pleasing little ceremony being gracefully done by little Joan Naylor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Naylor.

The stone was then lowered into position by J. S. D'Appolonia, contractor in charge of construction. Mr. Kellock, in spreading the cement into which the stone was lowered, declared it "well and truly laid." The band at this juncture struck up "For he's a jolly good fellow," while the trustees placed in the cavity of the stone a scroll containing the names of the school trustees, the town council, current coins of the realm, 1936 date, and a copy of the Coleman Journal and Coleman high school students' newspaper.

The dedicatory prayer following the placing in position of the stone was read by Rev. H. J. Bevan, and the concluding address was delivered by Rev. Father J. T. Dunbar, rector of Holy Ghost church. He stated that though over $30,000 was being expended on the new building, yet only a comparatively small number of those who went through public school would complete their high school course. This meant that the many would pay for the few, therefore high school students were in reality charity pupils. The point was, that the many were willing to pay for the few in helping to develop leaders who would later, it was hoped, serve the many, and this being the case, the money would be well spent. He complimented the board and the citizens for their enterprise in their decision to erect the new school, and also

Attended Same School as the Notorious Guy Fawkes

Mr. Kenneth Norwood, who with Mrs. Norwood is here this week, remarked that the editorial in last week's issue on Guy Fawkes reminded him of St. Peter's school, York, which he attended, and which was the same school which Guy Fawkes attended. It was founded in 800 A.D. Because of this, they never burned the effigy of the notorious conspirator as is customary on Nov. 5. He was discovered in the year 1603 in the act of planning to blow up King James I. and the House of Lords, and was subsequently beheaded or burned at the stake.

During the war Mr. Norwood served in the Royal North Lancashire regiment and later in the Air Force.

Remembrance Day Service Honors War Dead

Citizens Unite in Solemn Service Commemorating 18th Anniversary of the Great War Armistice

All classes of the community joined in the tribute to Coleman's and the Empire's war heroes at the service in the Community hall under the auspices of the Canadian Legion.

Promptly at 10:30 the parade of ex-service men, Girl Guides, Rangers and Brownies, headed by the Citizens' Band and the R.C.M.P. detachment under Staff Sergeant Casway marched from the town hall to the Community hall, where the service opened at 10:45, with H. T. Halliwell presiding. The service opened with the singing of "O Canada," led by Miss May Powell's orchestra and choir.

Following the chairman's introductory remarks, in which was quoted a portion of the oration of Pericles in praise of the fallen heroes of Athens as being appropriate to the Empire's dead, a prayer was read by Rev. A. S. Partington, followed by the two minutes silence from 11:00 to 11:02.

The hymn specially dedicated to Remembrance Day services, "O God Our Help in Ages Past," was then sung.

The Remembrance Day address was delivered by Rev. H. J. Bevan, chaplain of Coleman branch of the Canadian Legion, which was particularly inspiring, reviewing events of the war and world conditions in the eighteen years that had followed; also personal experiences during the time of his service overseas. He remarked that on previous occasions he had addressed similar services in Coleman, when the attendance was very small; but it was gratifying to note that a far deeper interest was now being taken in this annual observance and tribute to the fallen.

A violin solo by Fred Blazenko was played during the taking of the offertory for the Legion relief fund, following which the "Last Post" and "Reveille" was sounded by Constable Allan R. Foster, R.C.M.P., the assembly standing at attention. The singing of the stirring hymn, "For All the Saints Who From Their Labors Rest" the benediction and the national anthem brought this impressive memorial service to a close.

The high school party last Friday evening was attended by quite a large number of pupils and ex-pupils, and after paying expenses there remained a nice profit.

Will the Act Function?

The people of Alberta are entitled to judge for themselves the unfairness and injustice of The Reduction and Settlement of Debts Act. This is the first of a series of short statements concerning the Act, and its effect on you.

Will the Act function? Be it just or unjust, will it work? There are cases pending in the Courts in which the question of the validity of the Act is raised. Until the decision of the Courts is rendered, it is natural that lending companies cannot be expected in the meantime to prejudice their rights. Companies have been and are still prepared, regardless of what the decision of the Courts may be, to enter upon negotiations and explore all avenues in an effort to arrive at arrangements fair to debtor and creditor, a course which was recently followed by companies doing business in the Province of Saskatchewan.

Debtors should think over their position, and the doubtful security the Act might provide, before brushing aside the undertakings they entered into when they obtained their loans. Those who are not debtors should think what their position will be in a community where promises are lightly cast aside. If you cannot trust your neighbor—if your neighbor cannot trust you—what becomes of security and the basis upon which business and all other human relationships rest?

This statement is one of a series written by The Mortgage Loans Association of the Province of Alberta. The Association is composed of 34 member companies. It represents hundreds of thousands of small investments by typical Canadians. Its loans to citizens of Alberta amount to some forty-five million dollars.

(The second statement in this series will be published in two weeks)

Homework --- How Much?

The present trend towards the reduction and perhaps ultimately the elimination of departmental, or external examinations for students in public and high schools is a step in the right direction, if for no other reason than that it should result as its corollary, in the reduction in the amount of homework demanded of pupils and especially those in their early teens.

Reports on the subject presented at the recent annual convention of the Canadian Education Association in Regina by a committee set up to study the subject of examinations in schools showed that the three provinces, in conducting departmental examinations to grade 11 and 12 students, that is, in the last two years of high school, are in the van of the movement to curtail the evils resulting from the rigidity which such a system necessarily entails.

It is not difficult to divine that the curtailment of the external examination system will result in more moderate assignment of homework in the public schools and at least in the first two grades in high school. It has already done so to some extent, but even yet there is good reason to believe that in very many classrooms, both rural and urban, too much is expected from children after school hours.

And this is particularly the case where children in the last two grades of public school and the first two grades of high school are involved. Children of these ages have reached a critical, physical formative period and during these years are laying a health foundation which will serve them good or ill in adult years. During this adolescent period, while mental development must not, of course, be neglected, physical development should not be cramped by eliminating much needed opportunities for recreation and health-giving physical activity.

With the incentive of the teacher to pile up homework for the students removed by the abolition of departmental examinations in the particular grades referred to, there is no longer any reason why children should be over-burdened, to the possible detriment of health.

This was recognized by the school medical officer of the London (England) County Council in 1929 when he wrote in his report:

"It is clear that school authorities who take it upon themselves to set work which is not done under their immediate supervision take upon themselves a very heavy responsibility. It is their duty to consider the result not merely upon scholastic advancement but upon health and physique in every individual case, and in every individual case it is their duty to ensure that in every 24 hours there is not only time for work, for meals, for physical exercise and for sufficient sleep, but also healthful relaxation and recreation."

In a handbook for one-teacher elementary schools the State Department of Public Instruction of Pennsylvania decrees:

"In primary grades home study should not be necessary. After the child has acquired the art of reading he should be permitted his own choice to take books home and return them as he chooses to do. If any home study is assigned in the intermediate grades it ought to be very limited. It should deal with such informational subjects as history and geography, and the pupil should not be held responsible the next day for having done a definite amount of work. He should be urged to read in these branches."

Discussing the same subject in a recent issue of Hygiene, under the caption, "Homework—The Big Bad Of Education", J. F. Rogers made the following suggestions:

"Only work that can be done without help of parents should be assigned; home study should be made a privilege; it should not be too difficult; assignments should be made according to capacity and individual needs and for variety in subsequent class work; . . . home reading should be encouraged; homework should never be assigned as a punishment."

"In brief one may expect and must expect either injury to health or the exhibition of self-protective traits if the homework is either excessive or unsuitable, and there goes along with these results a waste of time which might be spent more educationally."

Railways Aid Development

The greatest single factor in the development, not only of Vancouver but of the whole of Canada, had been the Canadian railway system. N. B. Unbuilt Liner Insured

Large Sum Placed On The Queen Mary's Sister Ship

The Cunard-White Star Line announced that Benjamin Wistner Morris, New York architect of the firm of Morris & O'Connor, had been retained as a consultant on the decorations of the projected new sister ship to the Queen Mary.

Grey Wornum, a Londoner, who designed the prize-winning building of the Royal Institute of British Architects, on Portland Place, has been appointed decoration architect of the new vessel. Mr. Wornum is one of a committee of three recently appointed to plan London's coronation decorations.

Insurance of more than $3,250,000 has already been placed by British underwriters on the Queen Mary's sister ship, whose keel will soon be laid at the John Brown shipyard, Clydebank.

This is easily the largest amount ever placed on a single merchant ship in the course of its construction. Brokers in London are confident that the total amount to be accepted in the market will exceed $3,500,000, thus leaving less than $1,000,000 to be made up by the government.

Important London companies that declined to participate in the Queen Mary's insurance have taken large amounts on the new ship. A number of large firms in Liverpool, however, have thus far refused to accept their share, although it is hoped that they will come in before the books are closed.

The coverage will take effect at the beginning of next year and run for not more than 36 months. Building risks are distinct from service risks and apply only while ships are under construction.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Ready to Go

The liver should pour out two pints of fluid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your bowels don't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You get constipated. Harmful poisons go into the body, and you feel sour, and the worst looks appear.

A more bowel movement doesn't always get the bile flowing freely. You need something that works on the liver as well. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get those two pints of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." Harmless and gentle, they make the bile flow freely. They do the work of a catalyst but have no cathartic or mercury in them. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name! Utterly reliable and sure.

Revised Regulations Sent To Mounted Police In Barrens

If you are an Eskimo and if you are a prisoner of the R.C.M.P. after you are up in the barrens and if you ask for the menu, this is what you'll get, Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday:

Two pounds of salt pork, fourteen pounds of flour, seven pounds biscuits, three pounds rolled oats or beans, one pound lard, eight ounces of tea, half gallon molasses, four ounces baking powder.

The foregoing rations are per day. They are just announced by the Canada Gazette in a list of revised Mounted Police regulations.

A Cheerful Note

The Lethbridge Herald says the spectre of southern prairie cattle dying by thousands this winter is vanishing. A lot of our cattle have gone to markets east, west and south, some for immediate slaughter and the rest for feeding. The open fall has served to allow those still on hand to find their own living. It would appear that we are going to come out of the livestock situation better than we thought.

New Helicopter Plane

R.C. Man Claims Test Of Latest Model Is Success

A new type of helicopter flying machine is undergoing final tests by its inventor, John Hess, at New Westminster, B.C. The inventor claims it is the first successful helicopter for all practical purposes; that it can be lifted and lowered vertically in the air.

During the past 15 years Mr. Hess has studied aeroplanes and done a great deal of building and experimenting. He stated tests of his latest aeroplane had been successful, and that the machine could be kept in the air as long as he wished. The aeroplane weighs a ton and is powered with a 210 horsepower motor. There are two propellers, one in front and the other at the rear, revolving on vertical shafts.

Each propeller has four blades and is shaped like an umbrella. The forward shaft may be thrown into a horizontal position to drive the aeroplane forward once it is in the air.

The secrets of the machine are well guarded. It is the third helicopter made by Mr. Hess. The first was a model and later he experimented with a 100 horsepower motor machine.

Queer Broadcast Reception

Alberta Folks Hear Musical Program Without Receiving Sets

Mysterious music that "came out of a clear sky" baffled four road workers near Dods, Alta., about 40 miles southeast of Edmonton. They said it was a radio program from Edmonton but there were no receiving sets "for five miles around" where they were working.

Started by the music, A. J. Thorley, R. Gjerde, H. Vergette and F. Fletree thought there might be an automobile in the vicinity but search revealed nothing.

They proceeded to a farm house more than a mile distant where they found Mrs. G. Sanstrom who claimed she had also heard the music but had feared to mention it, thinking people might wonder about her sanity.

As the workers were making further "investigations," the music ceased so suddenly as it had started, they reported. The music had continued as they walked toward the distant farm home.

The program from nowhere eclipsed the story of the Lindsay, Ont., farmer who heard melodies from his stove, and other reports of tunes coming from kitchen sinks.

Woman's Fear of Rheumatic Pains

One of the many troubles that afflict rheumatic sufferers is the difficulty of getting up and down stairs. Such was the case with this woman, before she started taking Kruschen, but now she finds it no trouble. Read what she says—

"I have been taking Kruschen now for over 12 months, a half-teaspoonful in hot water first thing in the morning, and now I can get up and down stairs without any pain. I had very painful rheumatism in my knees and back and also in my head was getting very bad. I used to dread walking upstairs, now I am very thankful to say it is no trouble at all and I scarcely have any pains. I feel better in health than I have done for years." (Mrs.) G.M.

Britishers Hope He Will Launch New British Liner

King Edward may lay the first keel plate of the $22,500,000 new British liner, as yet unnamed, which is to be built at Clydebank, Scotland, as a sister ship to the Atlantic blue ribbon holder Queen Mary.

Britishers hope Edward will consent to launch the vessel at Clydebank, 18 months or two years from now, and will name her King George V, the name popular vote has already given the new liner.

Officially the ship is to be known as No. 552 until her launching. She will be of the same dimensions as the Queen Mary, but recent important improvements in marine engineering will be incorporated in the 200,000 horsepower engines.

The Sunflower

Was Used As Food By North American Indians In Early Days

The sunflower, which is cultivated in Canada mainly for feed for birds and poultry, for ensilage as cattle feed, and as an ornamental plant, is generally recognized as indigenous to North America. It was used as food by the North American Indians, the seeds being eaten raw, or pounded and mixed with other seeds into flat cakes which were dried in the sun. In 1615 Champlain found the Indians in the vicinity of Georgian Bay cultivating the sunflower. The oil which they obtained from the seeds was used for their hair.

Heavy Movement Of Feeder Cattle To Eastern Canada

Ottawa.—At least 20,000 feeder cattle have been shipped from dried-out areas in the prairie provinces to farms in eastern Canada since Sept. 1 with the assistance offered by the department of agriculture, Hon. James G. Gardiner, agriculture minister, said in a week-end statement.

As far as the movement applies to the province of Quebec, the provincial department of agriculture pays 50 per cent. of the freight rates. Upwards of 300 farmers in eastern Canada have, during the past few months, taken advantage of the feeder purchase policy to go to western Canada personally to select the cattle required for their own feeding operations, or by neighbors who have placed orders with them. Under the terms of the policy, the Dominion department of agriculture pays the one-way railway fare and living expenses from the home of the applicant to the point where the cattle are purchased.

In order to secure refund of 50 per cent. of the freight charges allowed by the Dominion department of agriculture on carload shipments of young feeder cattle purchased at and shipped from country points in the prescribed drought area, the majority of eastern buyers have purchased direct from farmers and ranchers, materially assisting producers in that part of western Canada in disposing of cattle which they have been under necessity of selling this year.

In addition many eastern Canadian farmers unable to make the trip to western Canada have utilized connections made by them in previous years to have cattle purchased at country points in the drought area, thereby saving 50 per cent. of the freight charges.

Mr. Gardiner pointed out the freight concession applies only on cattle shipped prior to Dec. 1 next and that farmers who may still desire to secure advantage of it should lose no time in completing the arrangements to go to western Canada or in placing their orders.

While the Dominion department of agriculture does not undertake to handle orders, service has been given through regular and specially appointed members of the staff of the Dominion livestock branch in connecting buyers with farmers and stock growers who have feeder cattle for sale.

Reports received by the Dominion department of agriculture this week indicate the better class of feeder cattle have recently been selling at prices at least 50 cents per cwt. below those at which the majority were sold during October.

Miners Fatally Injured

Three Men Fall Down Shaft At Kirkland Lake Mine

Kirkland Lake, Ont.—Three men who fell 200 feet from a staging of a shaft in Lake Shore mine were fatally injured. The three were George Cadman, Bert Peterson and Charles Dooda. The men were working by themselves on the raise in the new No. 6 shaft when the accident happened.

Cadman was well known in football circles here and had been prominent in athletics at Cobalt before coming here. Further particulars of the tragedy were not immediately available.

Belief Is Held That Day Of Battleship Is Not Yet Over

London.—The battleship versus bomber controversy remains basically unsettled, according to the report of a sub-committee on Imperial defence published recently.

The report emphasizes the necessity of further exhaustive experiments but says that on the basis of present knowledge the battleship appears an essential part of a navy operating on the high seas.

The sub-committee consisted of Sir Thomas Inskip, minister for co-ordination of defence; Viscount Halifax, lord privy seal; Malcolm MacDonald, dominions secretary; and Walter Runciman, president of the board of trade.

The admiralty does not claim battleships are invulnerable to air attack, says the report, but that

Urges Increase In Trade

Hon. J. L. Halsey Hopes For Extension With Britain

Liverpool.—Hopes for increased trade between Canada and Great Britain were expressed in speeches and messages at a luncheon in connection with the Imperial fruit show. Hon. J. L. Halsey, Canadian minister of national revenue, recalled the development of the Canadian apple trade since the first trial shipment from Halifax to Liverpool in 1849. In the shipping season 1935-36 Canada exported to the United Kingdom 1,500,000 barrels of apples and 2,500,000 boxes, or approximately 50 per cent. of the entire crop.

"My hope is that the campaign for extension of our trade with Liverpool district and our participation in the Imperial fruit show will result in trade developments beneficial to your country and ourselves and to the whole family circle of the British nations," he said.

Lord Mayor R. J. Hall said they looked upon Canada not only as one of the best customers of the port of Liverpool but as a Dominion with which they were intimately related.

Aviation Inspector Dies

Howard C. Ingram Succumbs In Regina Hospital

Regina.—Howard C. Ingram, 39, inspector of civil aviation in the west, died in the General hospital from a heart condition, septic endocarditis, bringing to a close a career long associated with prairie aviation. Identified mostly with Moose Jaw, he lived variously in Regina and Edmonton, but his work took him by air to all points in Saskatchewan and Alberta. Mr. Ingram had been ill only a few days when he collapsed and was taken to hospital.

Howard Ingram is survived by his widow and one daughter; by his father, George C. Ingram, and a brother, George L., both of Regina.

For Mission Field

Young Women Graduates Of Brandon College To Engage In Foreign Work

Toronto.—Two young women graduates of Brandon college and a graduate of McMaster University will leave Toronto to work in foreign mission fields. They are Miss Clara Johnson, Edmonton, and Miss Gertrude Benner, Toronto, who will sail for India shortly, and Miss Susie Gilmour, Regina, bound for Bolivia.

The missionaries were guests at the diamond jubilee meeting of Women's Baptist Foreign Missionary Society of Toronto West.

Call For Volunteers

Recruiting In England Met With Shower Of Pacifist Pamphlets

London.—A shower of pacifist pamphlets interrupted a call for army volunteers by War Secretary Alfred Duff Cooper in the Wimbledon town hall.

Duff Cooper's speech at the presentation of a prize to the Fifth Battalion, East Surrey Regiment, was almost drowned by heckling from the galleries. Pacifist pamphlets were thrown down to the audience and distributed at the door.

Transient Tells Story

Hides In Sealed Freight Car From Vancouver To Toronto

Toronto.—Joe Moore, 28-year-old transient, who survived a one-week ordeal of being sealed in a refrigerator car, was well enough at Western hospital to tell his story.

Moore said he had climbed into the freight car on a Vancouver dock to sleep. When he awoke, the car was sealed and headed he knew not where. With nothing to drink and only green peanuts to munch, cold and hunger overcame him before the journey ended in Toronto.

He was found in the freight car when the car was unsealed at a siding here prior to removing its cargo of peanuts.

Moore said he had no relatives in Canada, having come from Poland several years ago. During the summer he had worked as a farm hand at Dauphin, Man.

He had been in a Winnipeg hospital until recently, jumping a freight car for Vancouver the day he was released. Having no money when he arrived at the Pacific coast city, he climbed into a freight car on the wharves and went to sleep.

Sets Precedent

Woman Member Moves Address Thanking King For Speech From Throne

London.—Miss Florence Horburgh, senior member for Dundee and a Conservative, made history when she moved the address thanking the king for the speech from the throne. It was the first time this task had been entrusted to a woman.

Miss Horburgh wore a brown evening dress. She appeared remarkably self-composed as she dealt in detail with the speech.

She was warmly applauded, particularly when, speaking for the women of Great Britain, she said:

"If ever the time comes again when women wait and men fight, one great suffering we demand we shall not undergo, namely, that human lives should be sacrificed because due preparation was neglected."

Ice Blocks Supply Ship

Goldfields Residents Will Have To Wait For Air Transport

Regina.—Menaced by river ice, the Hudson Bay Company ship "Pelly Lake," carrying supplies to Goldfields on Lake Athabasca, has been forced to turn back, and Goldfields residents will be without additional supplies until air transportation is reopened. It is expected that air transport will be resumed within two weeks.

The town will be faced with shortages of some commodities, and extreme rationing measures are possible.

Word of the failure of the ship to get through reached Hon. T. C. Davis, K.C., attorney-general, by wire.

Northern waters are reported freezing over quickly, and it will be impossible to attempt to get through by boat until spring.

Auto Tariff Hearing

Ottawa.—A public hearing on the operation of the new tariff rates on automobiles and parts will be held by the tariff board on Dec. 1, it was announced recently.

At that time the board will be open to receive representations from manufacturers of motor buses and manufacturers of bodies for motor buses and trucks.

SUCCEEDS DR. ANDERSON

J. G. Diefenbaker K.C., of Prince Albert, who has been selected as leader of the Saskatchewan Conservative party in succession to Dr. J. T. M. Anderson. He is a native of Grey County, Ont., but has lived in the West since childhood.

Interchange Of Journalists

Arrangements For Exchanges Within The Empire Being Arranged

Ottawa.—Arrangements for interchange of newspapermen within the Empire have been completed, J. H. Woods of Calgary, chairman of the Canadian section of the Empire Press Union, announced.

Applications from several Canadian papers for British journalists had already been received and a number of British newspaper owners had agreed to place Canadians. Sir Keith Murdoch of Melbourne, Australia, had expressed willingness to give jobs to two Canadian newsmen. Mr. Woods was also confident other parts of the empire would co-operate.

The regulations governing the exchange are that the applicant must be 35 years of age or under; must have three years newspaper experience; be recommended by the newspaper for which he works; and his application approved by the respective sections of the Empire Press Union. The applicant must also contract to return to his paper on conclusion of his term of experience abroad. At the present time this term is placed at one year.

The "host" newspaper owner agrees to provide work for a year.

Another Use For Glass

Scientists Have Been Experimenting With It For Dental Use

Toronto.—A new milestone in dental history is claimed by a little group of scientists who struggled for nine years to perfect the ideal denture base.

Experimenting in a secluded corner of the dental buildings at the University of Toronto, the white-coated trio has foregone holidays and spare time to work on an idea.

Dr. Frank Lott, professor of prosthetic dentistry, unfolded to the Academy of Dentistry the advantages of glass as a base for false teeth plates. He named Dr. A. D. A. Mason, now dean of the faculty of dentistry, and Dr. Irwin Ante, professor of crown and bridge prosthesis, as co-workers in the discovery. A chief advantage of glass for dental plates is claimed to be its permanency of color and the extremely wide color variation attainable.

Inquiry Into Marketing Of Wheat Will Open At Winnipeg On Dec. 1

Ottawa.—Merits of different grain marketing systems will be surveyed by Mr. Justice W. F. A. Turgeon, who begins his inquiry into the marketing of wheat and other grains at Winnipeg on Dec. 1.

Out of the inquiry may come proposals to parliament which will settle the future of Canada's grain marketing system and determine whether it is to operate through the agency of government boards, co-operative or voluntary pools, price stabilizing agencies or competitive buying and selling on an open market.

Mr. Justice Turgeon, a judge of the Saskatchewan court of appeal, was appointed a royal commissioner by an order-in-council passed last June with the widest powers of inquiry. His appointment followed long and sharp controversy in parliament and elsewhere arising out of various governmental and parliamentary steps relating to wheat marketing dating back to the financial difficulties of the wheat pools in 1929 and the price collapse of that year.

Terms of Mr. Justice Turgeon's commission recall a number of parliamentary disputes. Generally he is authorized to inquire into and report on the "production, buying, selling, holding, storing, transporting and exporting of Canadian grains and grain products."

In particular he is instructed to probe methods now and formerly used in marketing abroad, such as government boards, co-operative or pool marketing, price stabilization and open trading. All have been used and criticized.

Another subject of inquiry is all transactions pertaining to the handling of grain for relief and seeding purposes since 1930. This involves a review of the administration of farm relief in the three prairie provinces.

At the last session of parliament Conservative Leader R. B. Bennett charged the wheat board under James Murray protected short traders on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange last December with a sudden boom in Argentine wheat prices. A parliamentary committee probed the charge but made no definite finding and Mr. Justice Turgeon is instructed to study it and report whether any action taken was beneficial or harmful.

The mixing of Canadian and United States grain by millers and exporters has for years been a sore point with western farmers. Despite measures taken to prevent the practice allegations that it continues have been frequent. The judge is instructed to investigate its effect.

"Causes of the decrease in Canadian grain exports in recent years" is another subject for inquiry. Opponents of the wheat pools at one time attacked the pools' overseas agencies for the way they antagonized overseas buyers and the agencies were discontinued. It was also charged the pools held wheat for unduly high prices and the same charge was leveled against John I. McFarland, former chairman of the wheat board.

Canadian Growers Win

Victories In Apple Exhibits At Imperial Fruit Show

Ottawa.—Nova Scotia and British Columbia growers were victorious in 13 classes of apple exhibits at the Imperial Fruit Show held at Liverpool, Eng., according to the prize list received by the department of agriculture. Besides the 13 first prizes, growers from the coastal provinces scored several seconds and thirds. Ontario and Quebec, where a large volume of apples is also grown for export, did not compete.

Northern Aviation Record

Edmonton.—Another record in northern aviation has been chalked up by the Royal Canadian Air Force plane making upper air observations for the meteorological service of Canada at Fort Smith, N.W.T., it was learned here. The machine, using wheels, took off from ice and rose 17,000 feet Nov. 1, the first time such a take-off had been made in the Northwest Territories.

Canada's Trade With Java

Has Been Increasing Steadily For Last Five Years

Windsor, Ont.—Trade between Canada and Java, the world's most densely populated country, has increased every year since 1931, Richard P. Bower, Canadian trade commissioner at Batavia, capital of Java, for three and one-half years, during a brief visit here. Mr. Bower said only Japan and a couple of other nations have enjoyed similar conditions with the tropical island just south of the equator in the Dutch East Indies.

Cause Of Death Unknown

Toronto.—Thomas F. Moss, Toronto, who died at Oxford University hospital, where he was found by a hayrack near Bath, England, several months ago, left an estate of $13,607, it was learned here. British police were unable to determine whether Moss died accidentally or was victim of foul play. The estate was left to his mother.

King Edward Planning Visit To Canada After Trip To India

King Edward VIII. is planning a visit to Canada soon after his coronation next May, Prime Minister King indicated as he came back from a European visit.

The prime minister said the King was looking forward to a visit to Canada as soon as possible after his trip to India, planned for almost immediately after the May coronation.

Mr. King said no more about the monarch's proposed visit to the Dominion. It was the first official indication King Edward expected to visit this country next year.

King Edward's trip will mark the first time in history a reigning British monarch has visited Canada. He has travelled through the Dominion a number of times, but before he came to the throne.

His father, King George V., also visited Canada, but prior to his accession.

King Edward's visit to India, preceding the journey to Canada, will be for the purpose of being crowned Emperor of India. A ceremonial Durbar will see him vested as ruler of India's millions.

King Edward will be making his fifth visit to Canada when he travels to the Dominion after his coronation next May. He made an official visit in 1919 when, as Prince of Wales, he travelled from Canada to coast. He came again in 1923 and 1924 and 1927 on unofficial trips.

As a quiet young man of 25 he landed at Halifax on his first visit and immediately captured the hearts of the Canadian people. Thousands of persons cheered him.

A strike was in progress in the mining district of northern Ontario at the time and his staff decided it would be safer for him not to visit certain districts. When the Prince found this out he insisted on touring the Porcupine mining country.

The result was the residents gave him a roaring welcome. At Timmins a streamer of bunting straddled a great square outside the station bearing the legend "This is your town; paint it red or any dam color you like."

In hardly less boisterous fashion the rest of the Dominion greeted him everywhere he went. Crowds came to stare at the King's son who was scarcely known to them and remained to cheer him to the echo. Everywhere the Prince danced, played golf and won the devotion of Canadians.

He was in Canada again in 1923 as the Earl of Renfrew to visit his ranch, the Elbow ranch in Alberta; in the summer of 1924 he made another unofficial visit to Canada and the United States. The Prince was in Canada again in 1927. That year he accompanied Stanley Baldwin, then as now prime minister of the United Kingdom, on part of the prime minister's tour of the Dominion.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

"LOOKING ON the Bright Side of Life" is well remembered as a song of a well-known vaudeville artist, and hearing her sing it made one feel better in spirit and general outlook. It is far better to have a positive than a negative attitude in one's outlook, and one gets along much better with his fellows by passing out a word of cheer, or just a pleasant smile.

MOST PEOPLE have troubles, but what's the use of carrying them around on your coat sleeve? Contrasting speakers over the radio make one feel grouchy or happy, according to the line they broadcast. It is a noticeable fact that the highest paid artists are those who entertain people with wit and humor, or bright songs which take their minds from their daily cares. Goodwill always wins against gloom and pessimism, and pays handsome dividends to those who cultivate it.

AN EXAMPLE of a man who has overcome almost insurmountable obstacles is Herb McCrea, publisher of the Hanna Herald. He started the paper about 20 years ago, and Hanna in common with other places progressed. Later years and the depression took its toll on business generally, and possibly no class of business felt it harder than the weekly newspaper publishers. McCrea not only had adverse business conditions to contend with, but bodily sickness which resulted in the loss of an arm by amputation. But he still kept on turning out one of the brightest weeklies in Alberta. Then another stroke of bad luck hit him when his plant was destroyed by fire. But from the ashes he again arose and his unquenchable spirit was indicated in his editorials which were widely quoted. One would have considered this plenty for a man to endure, but again sickness laid him low, and necessitated the amputation of a leg below the knee. Aided by his family, his paper has continued to appear, losing none of its vigor, and its publisher is looking forward to resuming his place in his office. And through it all he has served the interests of his fellow publishers as secretary for ten years of the Alberta division of Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association. Every newspaper man in Alberta, daily and weekly, pays tribute to the brave heart and indomitable will of Herb McCrea.

SOME PEOPLE have the queer quirk in their mind that Empire defence is none of Canada's business. Yesterday we honored the Empire's dead, including thousands of Canadians. Was it not for the Empire they made the supreme sacrifice? What would the spirits of the dead feel were they told that Canada disclaimed its link with the Motherland in a time of crisis? Plenty of loyal Canadians throughout this Dominion would do the same as they did in 1914 were Canada's safety assailed, and it is no use shutting our eyes to the fact that mankind has not changed very much since those dark days. None want war, particularly those who have experienced its horrors and its nightmares, hungry guts and wet clothes. But as long as the mad dogs of war are liable to be loosed, so must men who have a love of homeland be prepared to fight for it. He who would not fight must become the underdog.

AT THE MOVIES was shown a recent picture of the famous Dionne "Quints." It gives one a thrill to see them in pictures; how much greater a thrill must it be to see them in person. "Just five little babies," some cynic will remark. Yes, just five little babies, but what babies! The only quintuplets in the world, nursed along and cared for as possibly no other babies have been, and enjoying perfect health. What a tribute to the country doctor who helped to bring them into the world, and who has since been entrusted with their welfare and health. Well might Canada be proud of its quints, though proudest of all must be the mother. And what a personal triumph for Dr. Dafeo, who in primitive surroundings brought five mites safely through those first few critical weeks, while all the world wondered.

THERE ARE still some business houses using trucks for bringing in their goods. This is short-sighted policy. Coal is the source of their business here, and other Pass towns. One representative of a trucking company, it is reported, solicited business by trying to bribe customers with a drink from a bottle of whiskey. A business house is reported to have shipped in a truckload of material. People may of course use whatever transportation system they choose, but the point is, trucking companies employ no local men, pay no taxes to the town, chisel on the railroads and do not observe trade union rules. This town gets a lot of money in wages from the C.P.R., and the more these wages are cut down through falling off of coal shipments, the less business local houses will do. One person remarked that a few cents on a shipment could be saved. One might state that savings of this nature would eventually put all concerns here out of business. It requires a lot of talking to some people to impress on them the folly of committing business suicide.

ing business suicide. If local business houses require the coal companies to co-operate with them, the best way they can reciprocate is by trying to develop as much business as possible for the coal companies instead of taking business from them. That's the plain truth! In one railroad town the railway employees made known by their retail trade just how they could make themselves felt in a similar situation.

Community Hall Operates at a Loss

Responsibility Assumed by Local Committee Should be Borne by Ratepayers as a Whole.

The Community Hall committee received a letter which indicates a lack of knowledge of the conditions under which the hall is operated. A local committee obtained a lease from the United Mine Workers of America whereby they were to keep it in good repair, pay taxes, insurance and maintenance costs, costing approximately $500 per year. In addition a caretaker is paid $50 for four months of the winter, and $12.50 for eight months, total of $300. Sundry expenses for fuel, light and water and incidentals will easily amount to another $200, making a minimum total of $1,000, to which must be added taxes.

To operate the hall and pay all expenses $1200 a year is required. This can only be secured from rentals. To help pay the expenses of over $2,000 required to put the hall in shape for serving the public, the school board and the town council each granted $250 in 1934. The coal companies through Mr. Kellock contributed over $700, and the committee borrowed money to pay the rest, which they did on their personal note.

There were three private donations, amounting to $60, paid towards the initial cost of getting the hall in shape. The secretary's time is given gratuitously for managing the hall and keeping the records.

Those without knowledge of these conditions ask why a charge is made for rental, evidently being under the impression that the town council pays for the maintenance of the hall. Even were it paid for out of taxpayers money, a rental would have to be charged to cover the operating costs. The committee does this work voluntarily, and would gladly turn over the hall to any organization which would assume the same responsibility, on the same conditions as it is held on lease from the United Mine Workers.

Principal items of income during the past three years are:
Miners Union monthly rental $20.00.

Badminton Club monthly rental, $25.00. (Usually five months.)
Basket Ball Club monthly rental, $15.00. (occasional.)

These items furnish approximately $500 out of $1200 required. The basket ball club does not continue usually beyond two or three months, some seasons less.

The suggestion has been made to the council that it be taken over and operated as a community utility, but it was turned down. It was also suggested that Coleman Miners' Association take it over when negotiations were underway for a local committee to secure the hall. They also declined to accept the responsibility. The hall was like a poor relative, nobody wanted it, therefore the small committee which from a spirit of local enterprise completed negotiations for securing the hall for the use of the community, is left holding the bag, and the responsibility for financing it.

It might be added that were it not for the liberal concessions made by the coal companies, whereby fuel, light and water is supplied at a fraction of cost, the hall committee could not continue to operate the hall even were double the present rental charges made.

The committee which signed the contract with the U.M.W.A. were A. M. Morrison, Mayor Paterson and D. Gillespie, representing the Board of Trade, the town council and the local miners' association. H. T. Halliwell was asked to act as secretary. The executive administration is in the hands of the three gentlemen named.

Farewell Presentation to Frank Creeggan

Popular Bank Employee Receives Many Expressions of Goodwill—Presented With Chair

In the Grand Union hotel on Friday evening hockey club players and the executive, besides a number of the business men, met in an enjoyable banquet to bid farewell to Frank Creeggan on his departure to Medicine Hat.

W. L. Rippon acted as chairman, and complimentary remarks to the guest of the evening were made by Dr. McLean for the hockey executive; Jack Kwasney for the players; J. H. Boulton for the curling club; Luke Lindoe for the tennis club; Harry Gardner for the baseball club; G. Kellock for the coal companies; Albert F. Short for the fishermen, and Mayor Pattinson for the business men.

R. F. Barnes made the presentation of a handsome chair, accompanied by a neat speech, stating he was a man of few words, yet on behalf of the assembled company he extended to Mr. and Mrs. Creeggan good wishes in moving to their new home.

Mr. Creeggan stated he has enjoyed his stay here, and in regard to the interest he had taken in the hockey club as manager and president, it had been a hobby and he liked it, though it took considerable time. He hoped the team would continue as it had in the past two or three seasons and would eventually win the Allan Cup, after being finalists in the provincial championship the last two years. He would follow the club's doings this coming season with great interest, and hoped to see them play at Medicine Hat.

Mr. and Mrs. Creeggan and children left on Monday for their new home, with the good wishes of a host of friends, after nearly seven years residence here.

To Quickly Ease Pains of Rheumatism

Ask Your Doctor About "ASPIRIN"

Any person who suffers from pains of rheumatism should know this. Two "ASPIRIN" tablets, taken with a full glass of water, will usually ease even severe rheumatic pains in a remarkably short time.

Ask your doctor about this. He will probably tell you there is nothing better. For "ASPIRIN" tablets not only offer a potent analgesic (pain reliever), but start going to work almost instantly you take them. Note illustration of glass.

Try this simple way. You'll be surprised at how quickly pain eases. "Aspirin" tablets are made in Canada. "Aspirin" is the registered trademark of the Bayer Company, Limited, of Windsor, Ontario. Look for the name Bayer in the form of a cross on every tablet.

May Be Explanation

Is it strange that some have wondered if the cruelties and brutalities associated with the popular pastime of bull-fighting have made the average Spaniard less sensitive of such atrocities as those that have characterized the present civil strife? Cruelty to animals, practiced, or witnessed without protest, inevitably denotes every finer human characteristic.—Our Dumb Animals.

Off On Northern Patrol

Work Of Mounted Police Is Not All Man-Hunting

Somewhere upon Ellesmere Island, within the shadow of the North Pole, two members of the famous Canadian Royal Mounted Police are fighting their way to within about 100 miles of the top of the world. Until next July they will be cut off from any contact with humanity.

They will be engaged in a routine job, about which they will make a brief, matter-of-fact report, but they will be encountering dangers and hardships such as famous explorers are wont to write volumes.

These two officers are the regular patrol from Craig Harbor northward to the Bache Peninsula. Their work is largely scientific, and furnishes a striking example of diversity or labors—running from man-hunting to science—engaged in by the Royal Mounted in the far north.

They spend much of their time preparing reports on weather and ice conditions, and animal life, for the scientists back in civilization. Occasionally they have to take a hand in rescuing some explorer. The average Royal Mountie in that part of the world is a jack-of-all-trades.

Here are some of the things he must be besides a policeman who "always gets his man":

Coroner, deputy sheriff, commissioner for taking affidavits, receiver of applications for naturalization, sub-collector for customs, collector of income tax, agent for the mining recorder, registrar of vital statistics, amateur physician and surgeon, weather reporter, shipping reporter, ice drift reporter, watcher for disease among wild animals, collector of strange biting bugs for examination by experts, collector of plants for expert study and reporter of the migrations of caribou.

One young officer not long ago had to amputate the infected arm of a trapper who had been badly hurt in the wilds. The mountie had no other instrument than a jackknife and no anesthetic, but it was a case of life or death and he did the job. He then rushed his man by dog sled to a doctor in a distant settlement, and the patient recovered.

One of the regular duties of the mounties is to keep an eye on the trappers. Men go mad up there in the white wastes.

When we approach a trapper's hut," one mountie said, "we never walk straight up to the door. We come at it from the side, because we learned long ago that frequently the man within will be in such a mental state that he will shoot right through the door."

"Often when you get inside, the man will be sitting looking into space, with his chin in his hands. He won't even glance up. I have worked about in a hut for hours without its owner moving or speaking a word, and he hadn't seen a human being in months."

"All of a sudden he will jump up and start to talk. Words pour out of him in a flood. I have had a man hardly drawing a breath between talk like that all night without words. It is a natural reaction after his long silence. Sometimes when the officer continues his trip the trapper will follow a long distance along the trail, so great is his urge for human companionship. That little visit generally puts the fur seeker on his feet again."

"Occasionally real madness overtakes a man and then there may be tragedy. I remember one case where a trapper shot his partner while the latter was asleep. Then he shot himself. We found the pair that way weeks later."

The Answer Is No

Lord Nuffield, the former Sir William Morris, manufacturer of popular low-price English automobiles, has offered Oxford University over $50,000,000 to extend its work of medical research. Marchioness Of Aberdeen Appeals To Women To Prevent War

On behalf of 40,000,000 women in 36 countries, Imbel, Marchioness of Aberdeen, now in her eightieth year, made a strong plea for peace at the opening at Dubrovnik, Yugoslavia, of the Congress of the International Council of Women.

Lady Aberdeen, who as wife of the late Marquess of Aberdeen, Governor-General of Canada, 1890-96, was a beloved Chatelaine of Rideau Hall, Ottawa, likened the council to a women's League of Nations, which, however, she declared, "would not evade its responsibilities."

"I ask all the women to launch a world-wide campaign to save humanity from war. The menace comes from those nations which want to expand and which are arming to destroy their brother nations."

Lady Aberdeen concurred with an appeal for the respect of personal liberty, "so essential to the well-being of mankind."

Asked if she thought the present European situation would mean war, she said "No," adding "we women, have firmly decided that it shall not be. England is against war. The young will not do it, and finally the mothers of the world are all opposed to war."

Strange Case Baffles Doctors

Man In Trance Ten Years Smokes And Plays Cards

Outwardly "dead to the world," the "Rip Van Winkle" of Springfield, Mass., sits in his favorite armchair and slowly puffs his pipe, apparently unaware that he has passed the tenth anniversary of his lapse into a coma that has baffled medical science.

Actually, H. William Lord is awake. But he responds to none but his wife, who has nursed him through a decade-long trance. As far as Lord himself is concerned, the past ten years are mostly blank.

Lord, born in Canada 62 years ago, is emaciated, and his hair, once black, has silvered. It was on Oct. 26, 1926, that Lord first lapsed into a trance. He slept for nearly four years. One morning in 1930 he awoke and glanced out a window. The sun was high in the sky.

"Say," he called to Mrs. Lord, "I've overslept. I'll be late to work."

For three months he remained awake. Then one afternoon Mrs. Lord found him asleep in a chair.

His only diversion is cards, which he plays with Mrs. Lord. Neither he nor his wife can read or write.

Editor For A Day

New Radio Head Published One Issue Of McGill College Paper

Editor for a day of the newspapers he founded 26 years ago was the lot of Major W. E. Gladstone Murray. The newly-elected head of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, returning to McGill for the Graduates Quinquennial Reunion, was "in charge" of one edition of the McGill daily, Canada's oldest college paper.

Twenty-six years ago Major Murray, then a McGill undergraduate, founded and became first editor of the daily, and this issue was published entirely by McGill graduates. The leading editorial was from Major Murray's pen, and other material in the special issue was prepared by graduates formerly associated with the undergraduates' paper.

Likes Life On Embankment

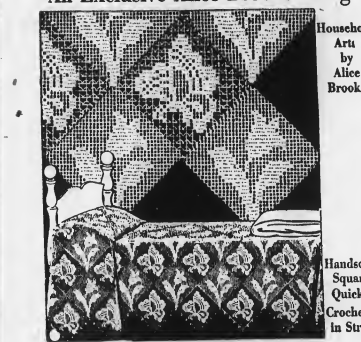

Man Who Inherited Fortune Does Not Care For Luxury

Sleeping out on the Thames Embankment every night is a man who could sign a cheque for the best part of £2000. Huddled in an old overcoat, his slightly "bed" is either a paper-covered seat or the hard pavement. By day he tramps the streets and gardens, occasionally standing "treat" at a coffee stall to his less fortunate pals. Such is the life chosen by Edward Merrill, who inherited the fortune hoarded by his uncle, James Linkinson, an Islington crossing-sweeper. Once a week Merrill "smartenes himself up," as he puts it, and pays a visit to his solicitors. There he "signs on the dotted line," and receives about £2-interest on his capital. Then, for a week, Merrill wanders again—the £2 he spends on his food and cigarettes. No one knows where he may be found in the day—but at night it is certain he will be on the Embankment again.

"I have had nearly 20 years of this life," he once said, "and no fortune would make me change—I love it." Merrill, in fact, just doesn't bother about money. For some time after it had been proved that he was entitled to the money he "disappeared." His solicitors searched for him in vain. Last July he was found in Kensington Gardens, batties, hungry and penniless. He was taken to the solicitors, and it was only then that he agreed to have the money invested and live on the interest.—Seas Daily Mail.

It is believed that the coal supply of the world cannot last more than 500 years, if the average annual consumption of 1,500 million tons continues.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

THE HEROISM OF CHRISTIAN FAITH

Golden text: Greater love hath no man than this, that a man lay down his life for his friends. John 15:13. Lesson: Acts 21:12-33, 36; Romans 9:1-5. Devotional reading: II. Corinthians 4:7-15.

Explanations And Comments

Paul's Reception at Jerusalem, Acts 21:12-33. Paul came to Jerusalem with a wonderful story of how the gospel message had been received among the Grecian Jews and Gentiles, and with abundant proof of their regard for the mother church in the money which they had contributed out of their deep poverty. The leaders of the Jerusalem church received Paul cordially, and after his recital they glorified God. Luke's account, however, makes no mention of their gratitude for the help of the Gentile churches. Apparently they passed at once to what was uppermost in their own minds.

"You see, brother Paul," the elders said, "what great numbers of Jews here have become followers of Thy Way, and they are all zealous for the scrupulous keeping of the law." To those Hebrew Christians Paul's great missionary success would be of little moment compared with the question whether Paul himself kept every jot and tittle of the law.

"These new converts will hear of your coming, Paul, and will regard you with suspicion," continued the brethren, "for they have been told that you teach the Jews to forsake the laws of Moses and the customs of our fathers." They then asked Paul to make a concession which, they thought, would win over his critics. Let him pay the charges for four men who had made a Nazirite vow and purify himself with them, that all might see that he observed the law. This proposal must have seemed to Paul, to paraphrase one of his own statements, only the becoming of a Jew to the Jews that he might gain the Jews. The proposal involved no matter of principle, and he consented.

Mobbed in the Temple, Acts 21:27-30. The scheme of the elders did not turn out as expected, because Jews from Asia, Paul's old enemies, stirred up a riot. It was Pentecost, and Jews from every part of the world were in Jerusalem. These men from Asia seized Paul and cried out: "Men of Israel, help! This is the man that teacheth all men everywhere against the people and the law, and this place."

Rescued by the Chief Captain, Acts 21:31-36. Up to the Tower of Antonia came tidings to Claudius Lysias, chief captain of the band that all Jerusalem was in confusion. With centurions and soldiers he ran toward the stairs and by his timely intervention saved Paul's life, for he was being savagely beaten and would soon have been killed.

Bears Destroy Park Signs

One Theory Is That Oil In The Paint Attracts Them

Black bears in Great Smoky Mountains National Park, Washington, evidently are conservative in their tastes and resent any change from the old order.

This tendency has been manifested recently in their defacing and destruction of a number of the new wooden signs which have been posted along the trails for the convenience of hikers. The signs are of soft wood, lettered in green on a white background.

Bruin makes short work of them, expressing his displeasure by ripping off the boards and splintering them. Old, unpainted signs, with carved letters, are not molested. A theory is that the oil in the paint attracts the bears.

An Old Japanese Custom

Husbands Do Housework For One Day Every Year

Wives ruled homes in many parts of Japan for one day while their husbands did the housework.

The celebration is an annual ceremony during which Japanese men recognize formally the duties their wives must perform on all other days of the year.

Kobe, the entire populace gathered in the town hall, where husbands scrubbed floors, washed dishes and did the family wash. The wives enjoyed themselves eating and drinking.
